

The University of Bonn Study Abroad Fair

On May 29, 2013 (Wednesday), the Bonn Office took part in the Study Abroad Fair at our partner university in Bonn and introduced the University of Tsukuba to many people at our booth, as well as later on with a short PowerPoint presentation. A lot of students were interested in student exchange at the University of Tsukuba, and overall in studying in Japan.

Compared to last year's study abroad fair, this time we were able to more efficiently advertise the University of Tsukuba and to directly inform the visitors about the campus, dormitories, courses, location and other things they were interested in. This year, a lot of visitors showed interest toward our university.

This year's fair consisted of 44 internal and external exhibitors, including the DAAD (German Academic Exchange Service) and the Bonn University International Office. With more than 250 visitors, the fair was a huge success. Because of the 50-year anniversary of the Élysée Treaty, a lot of exhibitors affiliated with French higher education institutions took part in the fair, including the University of Strasbourg.
